

Leading the Way: Partnering Education and Practice For the Emerging Public Health Nursing Workforce

Keynote Speaker:

Susan Zahner, DrPH, RN

Department of Population Health Sciences

School of Medicine and Public
Health, University of Wisconsin

A Henry Street Consortium Conference!

Conference Objectives:

Purpose:

The Henry Street Consortium (HSC) promotes teaching-learning strategies to support achievement of entry-level population-based public health professional competencies for students and novice public health practitioners. The aim is to prepare the future workforce to meet the demands of population-based practice. This conference brings together practitioners and faculty to share the collaborative work with students, lessons learned, the outcomes, and promising initiatives.

Upon completion of conference activities, participants will be able to:

- Explore collaborative strategies for education and practice to partner in preparing public health professionals
- Describe successes, opportunities, and challenges of providing quality teaching-learning approaches that support students and novice staff in development of entry-level population-based competencies.
- Identify next steps for successful and mutually beneficial partnerships between public health agencies and baccalaureate nursing education programs.

Save the Date! October 15, 2018

Registration Details Coming in early June!

Rooms Reserved!

RADISSON HOTEL MINNEAPOLIS
ST. PAUL NORTH
2540 NORTH CLEVELAND AVENUE
ROSEVILLE, MN 55113

<https://www.radisson.com/>

Conference Sessions and Presenters

History of Henry Street and “the Wheel”

Panel: Partnerships for the Future with Bonnie Brueshoff, Moderator and Susan
Zahner, Keynote

General Sessions:

- Successful Student and Agency Projects
- PHN Stories by Jill Briggs, Humorist

Breakout Sessions (pending):

- Applying the Partnership Engagement Model
- Sharing educational strategies for clinical
- Using the Population-based Public Health Clinical Manual in practice
- Using technology in public health
- Reaching vulnerable population needs
- Global applications of PHN competencies
- PHN preceptor education
- Using online formats for education

ANCC contact hours pending.

All sessions subject to change.

For further information:

<http://www.henrystreetconsortium.org/>